HEATED EXCHANGE

Chairman of Commission Calls Remark of Barrister "Monstrous"

PREMIER CRITICIZED

"Greatest Blunder Bennet Ever Made To Have No Labor Representative"

Vancouver, B. C., Aug. 16.—A heated exchange which finally ended with the assurance that no act of personal nature were intended, passed between Lord MacMillan, chairman, and G. G. McGeer, K.C., at today's setting of the Royal Commission on B.C. mining.

"I have never heard such a monstrous suggestion," declared Lord MacMillan, when he interpreted a remark of McGeer's to mean he was receiving remuneration, after the chairman had stated he received none.

Mr. McGeer was presenting a long brief dealing exhaustively with banking and economic situation in Canada.

"I make no apology for taking so much time, because I am speaking for wage earners who have no representation on this commission. I am performing as paid counsel, but I am performing as paid to the public as a plain, unpaid citizen," McGeer remarked.

Lord MacMillan "I may remark that we are also serving without remuneration."

McGeer "I don't know what you are getting, but if your Lordship says you are not receiving remuneration, I will take your word for it."

Lord MacMillan "I have never heard such a monstrous suggestion."

Mr. McGeer declared the chairman had no right to declare he had made a "monstrous suggestion."

Lord MacMillan "My expenses are being paid, but beyond that I am receiving no remuneration."

McGeer went on to say "It was the greatest blunder Bennet ever made to send the commission through the mine without a representative of labor." He continued his brief, but later paused to assure the chairman that his Lordship was serving in any capacity other than one of absolute neutrality.

EMPEROR OF JAPAN COMMANDING FLEET

Nipponese Emperor Sails To Assume Command of Manoeuvres

Tokyo, Aug. 16.—The Emperor of Japan sailed today from the principal base of his navy, Okotseki, to assume personal command over operations of the most formidable array of war-craft ever assembled in far eastern waters.

The Imperial Japanese navy is engaged to repel the attack of an enemy steaming out of the vast spaces of the equatorial-Pacific. The climax is expected to be a great sham naval battle somewhere off the Bonin Islands, 700 miles south of Tokyo, probably two or three days hence.

More than 100 fighting ships, nearly the entire first line of the Japanese navy, will take part in this naval battle.

LOCAL RESIDENT WAS 88 TUESDAY

Mr. J. Mrs. Spratton, resident of Nanaimo for 21 years, yesterday celebrated her 88th birthday, surrounded by her family and relatives, four children, 20 grandchildren, and nine great-grandchildren, all residents of British Columbia.

Mr. Spratton, despite advanced age, is hale and hearty, looks to have her apartment in the Vandome Hotel, and enjoys the "moves" frequently.

She considers Canada a "second home," and enthusiastically compares conditions of her childhood, spent on the Isle of Man, where she was born, with existing conditions of her present home.

The recreation of that period of her life, consisted of reading intellectual books and religious periodicals. She attended church regularly, and, according to her Puritan father, vulgar persons attended theaters or engaged games with the devil's pack of cards.

"I would have been a lady, receiving courtesies, if I were in circumstances similar to what I enjoy today," she said with a smile.

For many years after her marriage she became one of the busiest midwives on the Isle of Man. Her records show that she assisted at the birth of 3,500 babies. She practised midwifery in Nanaimo, when her last case at the age of 74.

She lived in Ferris and Melch, B. C. One of her daughters lost her life on the Empress of Ireland, in Halifax Bay, in 1914, and a son, Robert Spratton, was killed in the Princeton mine disaster in 1915. The latter's former heirs who attended the funeral, are: Thomas A. Spratton, the Canadian Collieries Mine at Extension, and now retired at his country residence at Blainey, Ladysmith; J. W. Spratton, Nanaimo, former leader of the Silver Comet Band; her daughters are Mrs. Cornet Band, her daughters are Mrs. M. W. Bell, Harbour street, this city, and Mrs. W. Joyce, of Ladysmith.

Montagu Norman, Woodin and McAdoo Arrive in Resort Simultaneously

CONFERENCE ?

Possibility of Parley As Three Men Reach Town During Past Few Days

Bar Harbor, Me., Aug. 16.—Simultaneous visits of three leading figures in international finance gave rise to speculation today as to whether a conference on international monetary problems may have taken place here.

Norman arrived here several days ago with Mrs. Norman to be the guest of Mrs. John Markoe.

McAdoo dropped in while he was in Maine on a yacht trip. Woodin was recognized on the streets here Sunday. Whether he was still in Bar Harbor today could not be determined. And whether the three were together at any time likewise was a matter of doubt.

Government in Difficulties In Code Formulation; Issue Complicated

JOHNSON'S RETORT

Washington, Aug. 16.—Yeering difficulties in formulating trade codes for the four titans of industry—steel, oil, coal and automobile—today were shortening the present stride of the NRA toward its goal of enrolling all business under work-spreading pay-raising agreements.

To complicate further the issue affecting these four, Administrator Hugh S. Johnson and his aides were today by organized labor that steel was flouting the recovery machinery's efforts to compact differences.

Johnson bringing all NRA facilities to bear on the four major industries, sent word to them that code must be agreed upon quickly to prevent minimum wages and maximum hours.

MUNICIPALITIES NOT OBLIGATED TO UNEMPLOYED

Hamilton Division Court Rules Cities Not Under Legal Obligation

ITS EFFECT

No Compulsion For Provision of Shelter and Food, It Is Held

Hamilton, Ont., Aug. 16.—An important judgment was handed down in a Hamilton division court which may have a far-reaching effect. It was to the effect that municipalities are not under legal obligation to take care of all who are in distress because of unemployment. Commenting editorially on this decision on Ontario exchange of the Municipal News remarks:

"It appears that a Hamilton man was deprived of relief by the city because he was the owner of an automobile and a radio. He entered suit against the municipality on behalf of his children, and the decision of the division court was that municipal governments are not bound to provide relief; that any assistance given is a privilege and not a right, so far as the recipient is concerned. It might be well for a good many people to realize just what is involved in a judgment of that kind. There is certain kind of individual who looks upon relief as legally due him, who openly declares that the municipality must take care of him and his family, and who believes that the civic authorities have no other alternative but to provide him with the necessities of life.

"This Hamilton judgment shows that Canadian municipalities are under no such obligation; that they are not legally compelled to provide food and shelter for those in need. There is, however, a moral obligation which hardly be ignored, and is not being ignored. Municipal authorities everywhere recognize this and act accordingly, but that does not alter the situation that anything that is done is not done because those citizens have a legal right, but because the authorities voluntarily assume the duties of providing relief.

"In view of the fact that a number of municipalities have announced that they will shut off giving relief after a certain date, it is well that this principle be established by a court decision, and those who may have a wrong impression of the obligations of municipalities will understand."

WORLD OPINION

The quotations hereunder, called from the Press of the World, do not necessarily carry the endorsement of the Nanaimo Free Press.

ENCOURAGING

The last three or four Saturday evenings have witnessed an encouraging revival of shoppers and gathering of those who make a point to some town. Perhaps it is the influence of the reopened picture theatre, and then there is just a little stronger feeling in the air, and we are heading out towards better times. The old familiar line-up of cars throughout the business area and the crowds on the streets and in the stores would appear to indicate that we are heading out towards better times. TRADE IS TRADE

Realizing that a trade embargo is a two-edged sword, Great Britain and Russia have decided to end their trade dispute. However, the practice of cutting off one's nose to spite one's face is still common among nations, as well as individuals.

There are some economists who make light of international trade. They say it amounts to little in-making national prosperity, especially for our nation. They might be right. International trade amounts to little. Trade is trade, and as a general every fair trade results in gain for both parties. The Russians gain from importing British ironware and cottons. The British gain from exporting their Russia timber and flax, sometimes wheat. Iowa gains from selling bacon to Texas and Texas gains from selling cottonseed cake to Iowa. Every country has something to sell that is needed by other countries.

IRELAND'S CHOICE

If, as is expected, Mr. De Valera calls for the dissolution of the present Free State Dail and seeks a new mandate from the Irish people, it seems fairly certain that electors of the Free State will be called upon to make up their minds, once and for all, whether they wish to remain in the British Empire on any terms at all, or to finally sever the last tenuous link.

We might almost express a wish that the Irish people should definitely decide to create an Irish Republic and have done with it; for perhaps when the possibility of drawing back, the opposition might consent to make the best of what they may see as a bad job, and then Ireland might at long last be at peace.

There is not an inconsiderable body of opinion in Canada which would hail with joy the creation of an Irish Republic, and hold it up as a worthy example for this country to follow. The majority of Canadians, however, would join with the majority of people throughout the Empire, not so much in censuring or blaming as regretting the act.

If it were to happen, Ireland, of course, would be merely following the current fashion in going nationalistic. That she would gain much by it in a material sense is hardly likely, indeed she stands to lose much. She would certainly gain nothing in freedom and independence, for she is as free now as she could ever hope to be in a political sense. The proof of that fact lies in the very case with which she would find it possible to throw off the ties that bind her to the British Empire, did she choose to do so—Vancouver News-Herald.

Fire Scores Royal Coaches

Wolverton, Eng., Aug. 16.—The royal train which was undergoing repair work in the paint shop at London, Midland and Scottish Railway carriage and wagon works at Wolverton was scorched badly in a fire at the works before it could be removed.

The royal train is painted in spotless white. The smooth and safe running of the train, which has been in service for more than 20 years, is one of the marvels of modern transport, but probably few people are aware of the elaborate precautions taken by the authorities for the safety and comfort of the occupants. It is not generally known, for instance, that when the royal train passes through a long tunnel police officers are stationed at the top of every ventilation shaft.

THE UPWARD TREND OF BUSINESS

The following articles upon "The Upward Trend of Business" by Howe Martyn, B.A. (Toronto and Oxford) Economic Analyst, and MacMillan, Limited Canadian Advertising Agency, are of particular interest at this time. They are submitted in the hope that they may throw greater light upon the tangled economic circumstances by which we are surrounded. There are three articles. One will be published each day.—EDITOR.

Sir Josiah Stamp (economist, adviser to the British Government, President of the L.M.S. railway), when he was in Canada recently to accept an honorary degree from the University of Toronto, said that politics today is largely concerned with theories of economics. In turn, economics is complicated by the activities of politicians. Business, in the opinion of the immediate future, has to take account not only of existing economic forces and the way they would work if not interfered with, but also of Government preferences recently made, and furthermore (at this date of writing) of opinions of powerful individuals who are in the act of deciding still more far-reaching economic policies.

Fully realizing the risks of prediction at such a time, we are yet convinced that valuable clues are to be present opinions and the likely decisions of political leaders—these to become important factors in the business situation—are to be seen. The political factors have been calculated, then, probably further results in the trend of actual business can be anticipated. And if our judgments are even in part borne out by events, it is perhaps fortunate that we have anticipated these expected events.

There is rapidly emerging from the confusion of business estimates and political discussion a clear prospect of vital importance for business to have anticipated these expected events.

UNITED STATES

A plan for forcing prosperity, Explanatory Depreciation, Inflation, Refusal of Stabilization.

The unprecedented fall of commodity prices in recent years has caused a growing disequilibrium between costs and prices, has immensely increased the real burden of all debts and fixed charges, has made business more and more unprofitable, has caused a sharp and continuous and disastrous increase of unemployment throughout the world. Some increase in the levels of world prices is highly desirable, and would be the first sign of world recovery. (Quotation from the Draft Associated Agenda for the World Economic Conference).

At March, 1933, the above situation was growing worse daily, showing few signs of righting itself "naturally." Therefore, Mrs. Roosevelt felt, and her advisers have created a programme designed to increase purchasing-power and business activity. The raising of prices is one of the instruments to these ends. Inflation, and expenditure of the new creation of money which inflation means on public works, is another and one of the chief instruments.

"Inflation of the sort that occurred in Germany in 1923 can have no justification; nevertheless, it is obvious that the process of deflation of the world over has gone to such lengths that the alternative to reflation, namely, readjusting costs to prices, is inconceivable. Unless prices are raised and stabilized it is evident that world economy will turn round and round in a vicious circle of deflation until it utterly collapses." (The Statist, London, Economic Conference Supplement). (Note—the only difference between reflation and inflation is that the former involves a pre-determined limit).

The present date, only five months after Mr. Roosevelt's inauguration, is not a time for him to submit to international limitation of the new reflation programme. He dare not surrender his weapons yet, with his purpose only half accomplished. Therefore he cannot accept any temporary stabilization of currencies. Depreciation of the American dollar in terms of gold currencies and in terms of the pound sterling is still speculative, anticipatory of real inflation of currency. Exchange rates are highly disorganized now, give no

FLATULENCE

Under normal conditions, a considerable amount of gas is present in the intestines. The gas serves a useful purpose in that it stimulates the contractions of the bowel which move the contents of the bowel along the intestinal tract.

Flatulence means an excessive production of gas in the intestines, and it is usually due to one of two causes. The first is the fermentation of foods which occurs when there is an excess in the diet, of sugars, starches or cellulose, the indigestible residue of coarse vegetables and whole grains.

This is most apt to occur in the person who is constipated, because in such cases, the contents of the bowel are retained for a comparatively long time, and there is thus a greater opportunity for fermentation with gas production. This gas is not particularly offensive, and the condition is relieved by passing the gas as flatus or with the bowel movements.

In such cases, it is advisable to reduce the consumption of peas, beans, (coarse vegetables, potatoes and whole-grain cereals. The diet with considable roundout is not the best diet for all, even though it is the best for some people.

The other cause of gas in the intestines is putrefaction. This gas is foul and offensive, as it arises from the putrefaction of proteins in the diet. The chief source of protein in our diets is meat. In such cases, too much meat may have been used, or, due to lack of habit or exercise, there may not be "regular bowel elimination."

The importance of diet and elimination are important in considering this condition. Another point noticed is that the same diet is not suited to all persons. This is largely the result of abnormal conditions which have been allowed to develop. If the bowel has become irritated, it is advisable that coarse foods are not obtainable as their use is apt to aggravate the irritation.

Diet is not the only consideration. Exercise, rest, fresh air, cleanliness and regular elimination must also be secured if the body is to be properly nourished and kept free from the abnormal conditions which cause distress and discomfort. Health is more than freedom from disease. The healthy body runs smoothly and efficiently, the healthy individual is effective and happy.

INSULT TO PEOPLE "PEG PAPER CLAIMS" Speech of Cabinet Minister De-nounced by Tribune in Editorial

Winnipeg, Aug. 16.—Indignation in the prairies is widespread over the published statement attributed to one of Bennett's cabinet ministers, the one thing this country needs is for people to dig in and do something for themselves and stop leaning on heaven and the government."

This sentiment comes pretty close to being an insult to the Canadian people. Telling a man who has been desperately seeking employment for two years that he should dig in and do something for himself is simply cruel.

The way The Tribune's Editorial Government supporter is a leading editorial denounces the utterance.

NAPOLEON'S HAIR CAUSES LAW SUIT

Tuft of Emperor's Locks, Once Sent To Sister, Is Worth $60,000

Bologna, Italy, Aug. 16.—After years of litigation, the Bologna society for the prevention of cruelty to animals has come into possession of what its officials assert to be the only lock of the great Napoleon's hair in existence. It is valued at $60,000.

Napoleon sent the tuft to his sister, Princess Pauline Bonaparte, shortly before his death in exile in St. Helena. The Princess presented it to her lady-in-waiting and thence it came into possession of a Miss Aca Scavini.

She in turn left it to the society for prevention of cruelty to animals at Turin. That organization later presented it to the Bologna society, whereupon Miss Scavini's heirs intervened and spent thousands of dollars in seven years of fruitless court proceedings to gain custody of the relic.

The mounting cost of the litigation finally induced them to withdraw their action.

Mr. S. D. Tippett, Mr. L. Williams and Mrs. C. Tippet of the Nanaimo Foresters' Lodge, are attending the convention of the Order in Victoria.

Today at two o'clock, the greatest heat ever recorded in Nanaimo was reached. Mr. Good's official thermometer read 94.2. It is hoped that this record will stand for a long time.

Ten Years Ago

Mr. M. C. Ironside has been elected secretary of the Associated Boards of Trade, giving J. W. Coburn, of Nanaimo, the new president, a co-worker from his own town.

Last evening, the champion footballers were presented with medals by Mr. John Hunt, who congratulated them on their splendid record in the East. The song "Nanaimo's On the Ball" was a great favorite.

What Are Your Needs?

Have you a car you would like to get rid of—some furniture you would like to sell or swap—a dance you want to advertise—a house you want to rent?

Place them in the Classified Section or the Brief Mention Columns of the Free Press. It is only through the local press that the eyes of the people of Nanaimo and District, your neighbors, are focussed upon your requirements.

Rates are not high. For example, counting six words to the line you may run a three-line advertisement in the Classified Section for a week for $1.05.

You may have the same advertisement on the back page, in the popular Brief Mention column for $1.95.

Rates for larger or smaller advertisements are in proportion, of course.

Minimum Wage and Shorter Hours Promised Under New Code for Journalists

Washington, Aug. 16.—The way was opened today for American newspapers to join up with business organizations operating under the National Recovery Act.

A modified presidential re-employment agreement providing for temporary minimum wages and shorter hours for newspaper workers was approved last night by Hugh S. Johnson, recovery administrator.

As approved the temporary schedule, submitted by the American Newspaper Publishers Association, left open several controversial questions, including insistence of the publishers on their constitutional right to a free press.

These questions will be determined before a permanent code is agreed upon after public hearings and presidential approval. A major provision of the temporary agreement provides a 40-hour week for reporters and other editorial workers receiving less than $35 weekly.

It also provides a 40-hour week for accounting, clerical, office, service or sales employees except a limited number of circulation and delivery men and outside salesmen, and the same schedule for mechanical workers and artisans.

GANDHI STARTS ANOTHER FAST

Mahatma Swears He Will Starve To Death Unless He Has Certain Privileges

Poona, India, Aug. 16.—Gandhi began at noon today what he said would be a fast until the Nationalist arrested August the outset of a new disobedience campaign and committed to Yeroda jail here for a year because he refused to obey a command to cease political activities, threatened to start the fast unless given full rights as a State or political prisoner.

At present he is treated as an ordinary prisoner, and certain privileges have been denied him.

The Bombay Government will communicate with the Indian Government and the Secretary of State for India in London regarding Gandhi's request for rights he enjoyed previously.

It was stated authoritatively Gandhi had been offered facilities to continue his campaign against untouchability under certain conditions. Whether these conditions were acceptable to him was not immediately made known.

NAPIER DENISON SUPERANNATED

Director of Observatory At Victoria Retires After 40 Years' Service

Victoria, Aug. 16.—Bringing to a close 40 years' service with the Dominion Meteorological Department, and 35 years in Victoria, F. Napier Denison, meteorological director for British Columbia and the Yukon, with headquarters at Gonzales Observatory, will be retired at the end of this month.

His superannuation comes as a fitting reward to a life devoted to scientific study that has been most beneficial to mankind. Dr. Denison is a member of an illustrious family that for several generations has been prominently identified in the history of this Dominion, and more particularly with what was once known as Upper Canada.

Highly Esteemed
Following the precepts set by his ancestors, Mr. Denison devoted himself wholeheartedly to the profession of his own choosing, and won the high esteem of fellow meteorologists. His inventions of meteorological instruments and his theories on weather and earthquake cycles have been followed with keen interest, not only by those in the same profession but by those who would benefit from the products of these studies.

Mr. Denison was born in Toronto and is the son of the late Lieutenant-Colonel Robert B. Denison, of "Bellevue," who at one time was Deputy Adjutant-General of the Canadian Militia.

Mr. Denison graduated from Upper Canada College in 1844 and was appointed assistant observer at the Toronto Observatory. From 1850 to 1891 he studied electrical engineering at Boston and Lynn, Mass., realizing that the use of electricity would become an important factor in meteorological work.

Was Engineer
During the period of 1892 to 1893, he engaged in electrical engineering in the United States and Canada in order to gain practical experience that might be of value in his scientific research work. He returned to the Toronto Observatory in 1894, and four years later was appointed weather forecaster and observer in Victoria. He designed the existing observatory and was appointed its director in 1914.

FIRST BLACK ROSE DRAWS PILGRIMS

Unique Flower Is Viewed by Thousands at German Town of Sangerhausen

Sangerhausen, Germany, Aug. 16.—Flowering under the watchful eyes of numerous park attendants, the world's first black rose, pride of the great Sangerhausen rosarium, is drawing thousands of visitors to this small Harz town.

The unique flower, the creation of which was recently announced, is a cross between two extremely dark varieties of roses—Chateau de Clug-Vougreot and Lord Capereagh. It is of a velvety deep black-red hue, so dark, especially in dry hot weather, that it may probably be described as black. The fragrant petals glow an abiding shadow. The buds, buds freely, and its leaves are dark green.

After the birth of the new bloom, which by coincidence occurred when the 30th anniversary of the rosarium was being celebrated, a great pilgrimage of rose-lovers streamed into the city. Thousands visited the gardens to pay homage to the fascinating new flower, the reward of five years of experimentation by Max Krause, a noted rose grower.

Starting from small beginnings, the rosarium here became one of the most important in the world through the generosity of Mrs. Augusta Vogel, nee Herwich, of Milwaukee, a native of Sangerhausen. Mrs. Vogel donated the funds necessary to mark this town one of the chief centres of rose lore and research.

Some 400,000 roses in 9,000 varieties are on display. The most popular credit for this achievement belongs to 80-year-old Professor Ewald Gnau, superintendent of the gardens, who is affectionately known as the "rosen-vater" (father of the roses). His expert advice on diseases and insect pests is eagerly sought by growers the world over.

Lindbergs Plan Trip To England

Reykjavik, Iceland, Aug. 16.—Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh planned today to continue their north-north mapping flight to Europe if the weather conditions were favorable.

On their arrival at Vatnagarður Sound near here from Angahavalsk, Greenland, yesterday, the Colonel held an address who brought their coffee and milk that England might be their next destination.

The Lindberghs brought their airplane down on the sound at 7:42 p.m. local time.

Nova Scotian Is Survived by 200

Kennetcook, N. S., Aug. 16.—Progenitor of more than 200 descendants to the fifth generation, George White has just died at his home near here.

One of Nova Scotia's most rugged characters, he had lived to see his children, grandchildren, great-grandchildren and great-great-grandchildren. About 200 were living at the time of his death.

He had followed the sea in his younger years, but "came to anchor" many years ago among his scores of relatives who still lived near his home.

GOLD PRODUCERS WOULD SHIP METAL

If Allowed By Dominion, U. S. Firms Force Handsome Profit in Trade

New York, Aug. 16.—Anticipating a handsome profit over and above the legal price, United States gold producers have sought permission of the Canadian Government to ship gold to the Dominion it is learned.

A recent decision of the Washington government allowing shipment of gold concentrates and amalgams to other countries to be refined and sold has made possible the export of the yellow metal to Canada, provided the Dominion Government permits.

The Canadian Government for two years has paid a premium on gold, allowing the Canadian miner the full premium which the London market offers. In return for this bonus the government has assumed the right to purchase all gold mined in the Dominion.

Mining experts say that deducting the expense of shipment and other costs American producers' profits will be improved appreciably in view of the fact, however, that exports will be paid for in foreign exchange, the extent of the shipper's profits probably will be affected by the value of the United States dollar in terms of the exchange received.

Canada ranks second among gold-producing nations—Her sister dominion, South Africa, is the world's largest producer.

FIRE DANGER GREAT IN ALBERTA, SAYS SUPT. A. G. SMITH

Calgary, Aug. 16.—Forest fire hazard this summer is the worst since 1919, A. G. Smith, superintendent of the Bow River and Crown's Nest forest reserves, declared today.

"Conditions are such that a small blaze would wipe out acres of dry timber within a short time and, until moisture dapples the timber, the underbrush, the danger of a big forest fire is great."

Lightning has caused many fires lately, Mr. Smith stated. Three small blazes have been started in his management during the past three days, but he said all are under control.

Cats Thumb Nose, Others Perform Acrobatic Stunts

San Francisco, Aug. 16 (C.P.)—Come the canine cats—latest episode in the restless career of a cologne's daughter.

She trains them herself, with salmon and kidney tidbits and patience. They walk on their hind legs, balance, walk on top of logs, jump over a bar at 40 inches and through hoops, salute and thumb derisive pink noses. Money back if they can't.

Their mistress, Mrs. Marian Johnson (Lottie) Dietrich, whose career as author, artist, jockey, animal trainer and war correspondent sounds like a dime novel, hit upon the idea by accident. Now business is booming; cats swarm the cologne's apartment.

But to get back to the cat tricks: Take Benny, for instance, a wee, orange-colored kitten of the garden variety (pars: Persian to you and me). He's Benny Turpin on account of his eyes, which are crimson. He's a bit bow-legged, too, but he can't show these handicaps damn him. "Up, Benny," commands his mistress. In a trice, he is atop his flower-pot pedestal, supple spine like a ramrod, paws poised in perfect poise, whiskers fairly quaver with such eager intensity as to rebuke the inevitable howl that greets the comic result. Benny isn't for sale, incidentally.

Village Sprouts In Berry Season
Saint John, N.B., Aug. 16.—Every year, during the busy season, a mushroom village springs up in the Mill Hill district between Sussex and Moncton. Indians from Nova Scotia and longshoremen from Saint John form part of the colorful group, usually 300 or more strong. They pick various mushrooms, who supply Canada, and New England markets.

After working all day, the workers are in the habit of gathering around their little shacks in the evening and listening to an "old-time" fiddler. Songs and strutting also help to pass away the evening hours.

Convicts Escape Terrors of Dread Colony in Guiana
La Rochelle, France, Aug. 16.—Wholesale swarms of desperate convicts from the dreaded Devil's Island and other prison camps in French Guiana were reported today by French authorities in this deportation bay.

Eighteen men recently escaped, officials said, bringing to more than 100 the total of prisoners who, singly or in groups, have fled the convict colonies within a year.

It is supposed the escapes have been made through the connivance of a secret syndicate which has aided criminals to flee through jungles or across the Caribbean.
