ORDER ARREST OF GENERAL O'DUFFY; FUGITIVE IS SEEN

Former President Cosgrave Is Fined Upon; Political Tension Is Heightened
NONE HURT
Police Officers Surround Capital But "Blue Shirt" Leader Is Too Elusive

Dublin, Dec. 11.—Political tension in Ireland, already high, has rapidly become more acute during the last few days as reports that William T. Cosgrave and the issuance of a warrant for the arrest of General Eoin O'Duffy.

Cosgrave, former president of the Free State Executive Council, was endangered at Annagony, County Donegal, last night, when his touring party was fired on. Officers returned to the city. No one was hurt.

General O'Duffy, co-leader of the United Ireland party and organizer of the outlawed "Blue Shirt" movement, an affiliate of Cosgrave's faction in the fight on the government of President Eamon De Valera, was described as fleeing from arrest, but authorities said his apprehension was expected momentarily.

Police officers watched all roads for the fugitive Eoin O'Duffy as during the night. He was reported to have headed toward the Capital.

Belfast, Dec. 11.—The blue-shirted Eoin O'Duffy, who seems definitely "in the ring" as the phrase for fight has it, is believed to be hiding somewhere along the Ulster border. He was seen Sunday at Armagh.

Being on the run is no novelty for the former Free State leader, as during the Irish people's army troubles 13 years ago he headed a flying column in the same area, operating over 60 miles of country without being captured.

LEADER IS HURT
Mr. George Lansbury To Be In Hospital For Months

London, Dec. 11.—The British Labor Party probably will lose the early leadership of its veteran chief, George Lansbury, in the House of Commons for at least two months at a critical time when the party is showing new strength and the Parliamentary battle is at its thickest.

British Steam Abandoned Crew Safe Aboard Tug

Perador Aground On Coast of Newfoundland; Other Boats Endangered
GALE RAGING

St. John's, Nfld., Dec. 11.—Firmly aground on rocks and believed to be pounding to pieces, the British steamer Fernow today had been abandoned.

The steamer, which sailed from Montreal on Dec. 2, for St. John's, Nfld., with some 1,000 standards of rope, stranded Saturday night near Cape Anguille, 20 miles north of Cape Ray on the southwest corner of Newfoundland.

Her crew, which took to the boats under orders of Captain F. H. Phinn, was picked up by the salvage tug Foundation Franklin which rushed to the scene from Louisbourg, N.S.

Clark's Harbor, N.S., Dec. 11.—Seamen were rescued today from a tug and a dredge as the two craft, driven against Cape Sable Island in a whirling gale, beat against a jagged ledge under the force of huge combers.

CANADA TO DEAL WITH RUMRUNNERS
Kronhow Case To Be Turned Over To Mounties By French Authorities

St. Pierre, Mig., Dec. 11.—French authorities today intimated the crew of the rum runner Kronhow would be handed over to the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, as soon as a Canadian cutter arrives to escort the eight wanted men back to Nova Scotia.

It was understood the prisoners would not attempt to take advantage of foreign soil but would return voluntarily to face charges in connection with their dash on his island last week after breaking seizure of the Cape Breton coast and carrying a prize crew of police to sea.

S. B. Hirtle of Lunenburg, managing owner, was quoted as saying an "amicable settlement" regarding the ship, cargo and crew had resulted from negotiations with the Canadian authorities.

Sunday the four coastguards brought here on the Kronhow including chief officer Milton McKenzie of the cutter No. 4, left on the liner Rossford, for Halifax.

AFGHAN CHIEF SUICIDES
Kabul, Afghanistan, Dec. 11.—Mird Khan Bajaur, a leading Afghan chief, committed suicide Thursday, it was learned here today, because he was not able to avenge the death of King Mard Shah.

The popular king of Afghanistan was assassinated Nov. 8.

Third Round Cup
Game A Classic
Everton Is Drawn To Battle Spurs, Now Leaders of English League

London, Dec. 11.—Draw for the third round of the English Cup today produced a classic when Everton, holder of the cup, was drawn to battle the Tottenham Hotspurs. The Spurs, after leading the English Football League for weeks, are now just a point behind Arsenal. Meantime Arsenal, league champion, is given an easy start with a match at Luton Town.

Sixty-four teams will compete in the second round of the cup on Jan. 13. They are the 44 clubs of the first and second divisions of the English League, three clubs of the English Football League, and the 17 survivors of the first and second rounds, in which the bulk of third division clubs competed.

Only two elevens from the hunt for Fish-League are left in the hunt for cup honors. Workington will meet cup holders Cheltenham and will come up against Blackpool, high up in the second division.

TROOPS MOBILIZED TO PREVENT LYNCH LAW IN OKLAHOMA

Texan Cowboy, Suspected of Three Killings Housed in Reform School for Safety
WARNING GIVEN
Governor Orders Troops To Shoot To Kill To Preserve Law and Order

Hutchinson, Kan., Dec. 11.—Rushed out of Oklahoma to forestall possible mob violence, Jack Wisdom, Kansas City cowboy, wanted in connection with the Kansas reform school here today for safe keeping.

Governor A. H. M. Landon of Kansas announced at Topeka if it became necessary to protect Wisdom, "I intend to maintain law and order in Kansas," Governor Landon said.

Kingfisher, Okla., Dec. 11.—Hastled away in a tense atmosphere of vague mob rumors, and amid the mobilization of troops, Jack Wisdom, whose arrest barely preceded discovery Sunday of the body of Mrs. Harry Pritchard, was held today in a secret place of safety.

The Kansas cowboy was sought in connection with the disappearance on Nov. 3 of Mr. and Mrs. Pritchard, of Wichita, Kan. They disappeared after allegedly having sought to collect from Wisdom, under threat of prosecution, for a non-fund check.

Oklahoma and Kansas officers, in the meantime, moved to carry out a systematic way the search for Pritchard's body last night.

Officers drove the handcuffed Wisdom over side roads, trying to follow his confused directions as to where the body was hidden.

"He claimed to know where it was, but he said he didn't kill them," Sheriff Ed Martin of Kingfisher said. "There's another man mixed up in it, according to him."

Officers seized the sweltering little cowboy before dawn in a hide-away in the lonely eastern Oklahoma hills. Then the rumors of "lynch him," began to fly. Hearing that "a mob was forming in Wichita," Gov. Murray, from Oklahoma City, ordered Field Artillery batteries mobilized at Kingfisher and Enid, told the troops to "shoot to kill if necessary," and added: "We don't want any mobs in Oklahoma."

Wisdom is under murder charges for the death of Emery Large, an elderly cowboy with whom he worked on a ranch in Meade County, Kas. Large's bullet pierced body was found in a well Nov. 30.

SPAN IN THREE OF REVOLUTION; 85 KNOW TO BE DEAD

Future of League and Arms Parley in Balance
London, Dec. 11.—The future of the League of Nations as well as the World Disarmament Conference probably will be decided in a series of diplomatic exchanges now in full swing in Europe.

Italy's demand that the League be reformed and final efforts to break the disarmament deadlock are the chief problems being attacked today in a vigorous revival of pre-war diplomacy methods.

The conversations of Joseph A. G. Avenol, secretary-general of the League, with British statesmen, beginning Monday; the visit of Fulvio Suvich, Italian Undersecretary of States, to Berlin, and the imminent call of Dr. Edward Benes, Czechoslovakian Foreign Minister, at Paris, mark the high points in the numerous rapid diplomatic exchanges.

FLOODS TAKE TOLL OF LIFE AND PROPERTY
THROUGH NORTHWEST
Six Dead, One Missing, Hundreds Homeless Following Worst Storm In Years

Seattle, Dec. 11.—Six persons are dead, one missing, hundreds are homeless, roads and bridges have been washed away, and property damage is estimated at more than a million dollars today, as the Pacific Northwest emerged from the worst rainstorm and floods in years.

The majority of deaths occurred in automobile accidents caused by floods.

Seattle, Wash., Dec. 11.—A score of western Washington cities and towns had the highest flood waters in years swirling about and through them today, while authorities sought the bodies of possible victims.

The high waters were described in various districts in these terms: Longview, "Coviltz highest since flood of 1896." Auburn, "Worst flood in 21 years," and at Tacoma, by inter county Engineers B. P. Thomas, "The worst flood in the history of the Puallup and White River."

Despite hundreds of families being forced to evacuate hurriedly no verified reports of flood deaths had been obtained. Thousands of acres of land were under water, and virtually all main highways were closed.

The only two deaths indirectly attributed to the floods were those of John Corbett, 65, a watchman patrolling a washed-out highway near Renton, who suffered a paralytic stroke, and Miss Mary Berry, 16, of Seattle, struck by an automobile in the rain.

Tacoma, Dec. 11.—A tale of equine heroism—or just plain horse sense—from the flood-swift Puyallup River bridge region was being told today by state highway patrolman Ben Rough. Three horses in a flood pastured on a farm near the station, owned by Ross, said, were swimming to reach dry ground.

"One was a pinto pony. He was almost exhausted, but every time he sank, a big grey horse would grab him by the mane and pull his head up."

The animals finally reached safety.

GOLD PRICE UNCHANGED

Military Barracks At Villanueva Captured After Protracted Assault by Troops

BARCELONA AFFECTED
(By Rex Smith)
Madrid, Dec. 11.—Government soldiers, moving under a merciless barrage of gunfire, early today charged and captured the Villanueva military barracks in which rebel forces had held out against a heavy bombardment for hours.

The casualties were not known, but at least seven of the rebels were slain.

These known dead brought to 95 the number slain in the anarchist revolutionary movement which broke out on Saturday night, was believed under government to quell revolutionary spirit with new violence in Central and Northeastern Spain yesterday.

Swarming over the walls of the unimproved fortress, formerly a camp, the troops quickly took over the most bitterly contested point in the series of sharp clashes between extremists and soldiers of the more than three days' scattered fighting.

Madrid, Spain, Dec. 11.—A battle broke out near Barcelona last night, and violence spread through the country despite desperate efforts of the government to quell revolutionary spirit which over the week-end has been taken over one hundred lives.

Rebels and the so-called storm troops, some 45 minutes on a high way near Collihanca, a Barcelona dispatch relates. The rebels used motor cars as shells from behind which they poured volleys into the attacking police squadrons. The battle started last night, resulting in casualties on both sides, dispatches indicated.

Fine Concert Held
At Bijou Theatre
On Sunday Evening

In spite of the inclement weather, there was a representative attendance at the concert given by the Nanaimo Silver Cornet band and assisting artists at the Bijou Theatre last night.

Those who attended enjoyed the particularly fine singing of Mr. Dave Arnold's male voice choir, and the exceptionally well selected numbers of the Munsionians.

Mrs. Barrie Gault was heard to particular advantage in two numbers, "The Holy City," and "Come to the Field."

Mr. William Brankston, Jr., delighted with his rendition of "The Trumpeter" and "Pale Hands I Loved," and Mr. Herbert Bates' work in the recitative "Elizbeth" was exceptional.

Mr. J. Leslie Reynolds acted as accompanist.

His Worship Mayor J. Barsby made an efficient chairman.

Prof. W. J. Smith Speaks On Social Legislation Before Canadian Club

Prof. W. J. Smith, of Winnipeg, gave an interesting address on Social Legislation and Public Services to the members of the Women's Canadian Club at their meeting in the Hotel Malapina this afternoon.

Two publications, "Canadian Immigration" and "Building the Nation" are the result of his special study of immigration, and he has also written many articles on sociology.

His address was really a short account of the evolution of the modern state with all the complexities and obligations the modern state has now achieved. He spoke in part as follows:

"Beginning with the division of labor as found in the city state of Greece and Rome, a sharp contrast is observed in the agricultural condition of community life in Central Europe, after the city state had largely disintegrated.

"The system of feudalism was followed by the manorial system which existed all over Central Europe, including the British Isles, and the previous period from the twelfth to the

FREEDOM OF THE PRESS

There has been much loose talk about the press, and it is usually about the southern part of the world, but the newspapers show freedom of expression, as in the British Dominions. Men have fought for that freedom. The pioneers of modern journalism suffered as much martyrdom in England, and on the Continent as the early Christians did for their faith. By the sacrifice of their lives, and their limbs, by loss of property and personal wealth, they eventually were allowed to fully publish those things, which they thought the people should know.

It is sometimes aggravating when this charge is made by people with only no paper whose liberties are curtailed more, than those of a dyed-in-the-wool Leninist organ. These are the people who should clean their own house before they criticize that of their neighbors.

Like every other organization the press has its faults. There are none so cognizant of those faults as the average newspaperman. And knowing them to exist, he does his best in his small way to eradicate them.

The general public usually obtains the sort of news it demands. There is for example, a London paper that features crime and sex stories. Its circulation has never been small. It caters to a vast public, and its circulation is growing by leaps and bounds.

On the other hand, there is a Boston paper, that will not publish murder stories, nor will it discuss them. It is becoming widely known as one of the most important publications. Here are two diverse policies. Both serve their adherents. What one considers news the other does not. Neither in their way can be said to be "muzzled."

Newspapers often have facts presented to them, which might be considered news. They do not publish them simply because they know that these facts may do more harm than good. The rabid proponent of the free press uses such examples as an argument that the papers do not print all the news they should.

WORLD OPINION

The quotations here are condensed from the press of the world, and are necessarily not the endorsements of the Nanaimo Free Press.

STICK TO IT, MR. BENNETT
According to Mr. H. J. Macklin, chairman of the British Columbia lumber delegation which visited the United Kingdom last year, this province would be able to supply the British market in 1934 with 350,000 standards of timber—approximately 700,000,000 feet—if the business were offered. This would mean the sale of considerably more than double the present increased volume and it would displace about half the amount mentioned in the contract which Timber Distributors Limited of Great Britain and Russian shippers are about to sign.

It will be recalled that as soon as Premier Bennett heard there was a possibility of Russia getting her usual order for lumber from Great Britain to meet the latter's 1934 requirements, he took the stand that were such an order placed, it would be in violation of the spirit and letter of Article 21 of the Canada-United Kingdom trade treaty, entered into at Ottawa conference last year.

It is to be hoped Mr. Bennett will be successful in influencing interests in Great Britain at least to split the Russian order for 1934 and give half of it to Canada. What it would mean for Canada, if our producers could be assured of a contract for 700,000,000 feet board measurement next year can be easily summed up. And apart altogether from the tremendous impetus it would give to one of our major industries, it would mean every business and citizen either directly or indirectly.

Take the shipping industry alone. The average cargo for a lumber carrier is 4,000,000 feet. In other words 175 vessels loaded to capacity would be required to carry the lumber of next year, or one ship every other day. It does not require the knowledge of a port authority to gauge the revenue which would flow into communities such as Victoria, Vancouver, New Westminster, and Vancouver Island centres as a result. Well may we hope, then, that the Canadian point of view will prevail in Britain in this matter.—Victoria Times.

THE CABINET

When Hon. T. D. Pattullo announced his cabinet it was to be noted that Vancouver would be against it. Vancouver has always been against anything that did not consist largely of Vancouver. So the political howl, town roars and interior British Columbia is sitting back and enjoying it, because of the fact that the new premier, who was given a free hand to select his cabinet, has had courage enough to ditch all the old guard from the coast and give the province decent representation, the first time in many years.—Cranbrook Courier.

VITALITY IN DEPRESSED TIMES

The years of depression have had no effect, or if any, a beneficial one, on the general health of the community. In Canada the death rate in 1932 was the lowest in the history of the country. Gross epidemics have been almost entirely absent, there has been a notable decrease in infant mortality, in fact depressed economic conditions seem to have promoted more vitality among the people. Probably that is due to simpler living which has been forced by straitened means. In other words, there has been a movement back to more digestible viands. Coupled with this preventive work on the part of health authorities is more and more showing its effects as the years pass. Obviously one sure way of promoting vitality is to tighten our belts. The simpler and the more inexpensive the diet taken the longer the span of life and the more resistant there is to disease.—Victoria Colonist.

WOMAN KILLED BY PARROT

London, Dec. 11—One of the most extraordinary cases in his experience was the statement of the coroner at an inquest at West Middlesex Hospital on the death of a woman who had been killed by a parrot.
The woman, Eliza Jane Griffiths, was 72 years of age. She was covering her parrot at night, as she had done for many years, when the bird pecked her on the left elbow. Toxemia and gangrene developed, and she died in hospital the following day. A verdict in accordance with the evidence was recorded.

WILL TRY AGAIN FOR SPEED WIN

Scott-Paine's Boat Altered After Creating New Record of 101.3 M.P.H. On Sea

London, Dec. 11—Important alterations, expected to increase the speed of "Miss Britain III" will shortly be made. It is confidently expected, if the experiments are successful, Hubert Scott-Paine will renew his challenge to Gar Wood, the American speedboat champion, for the Harmsworth trophy.
Hubert Scott-Paine's new record of 100.3 miles an hour on salt water is claimed as a triumph for aeronautical engineering, in the design of his boat as in the motor which provided the power. Much of the boat's design is the fruit of Scott-Paine's long experience of flying boat construction. Working on the basis of that knowledge, he was able to build a craft that transcends most of the accepted rules of speedboat design, but which nevertheless has proved itself to be the most efficient trawler of its kind in the world.
The builder employed for use in air-ship specially developed for use in airerast construction. The shape of the boat was planned aerodynamically. And for power-plant he selected a Napier 1,375 h.p. racing engine of the type fitted to some of the racing seaplanes constructed for the 1911 Schneider Trophy contest. Incidentally, about 18 years ago Scott-Paine produced the first flying boat to move at a measured speed of 100 miles an hour. That "record" too, was made over Southampton water.

All other high speeds in motor boats have been accomplished in inland waters. Conditions for Scott-Paine's recent attempt were decidedly bad. A brisk wind followed early morning fog. The water surface was choppy, and the beam wind and beam sea slowed him down.

His best run over the mile course was made against the tide at 102.1 m.p.h., with the tide, curiously enough, his speed dropped to 98.23 m.p.h., the difference almost exactly coinciding with the rate at which the tide was turning. The reason for his apparently paradoxical happening is that the beam wind and sea affected the run with the tide more than it did in the other direction, obliging him to rudder against the tendency to deviate from the straight line and at the same time slightly to close the engine-throttle.

THE PRIZEFIGHTER and the LADY

By Frances Marion

Synopsis

Steve Morgan, prize-fighter heavy-weight boxer, rescues Belle Ferber from an automobile accident and falls in love with her. Matters are complicated when it becomes known that Belle is Willie Ryan's girl—and Ryan is a notorious pugilist. Morgan follows Belle to the night club, and meets her in company with Ryan.

CHAPTER IV

LOVE IS LIKE A PINWHEEL. "Despite the gay note in his voice Willie Ryan was a serious man. He addressed the men at his table. "According to Belle, Morgan's here's one of our promising young heavies. He bears watching." Steve was nodding and into the story, staring eyes of the Adoped Son. He leaned forward. "Say, you and I didn't meet, did we?"

The stare was not removed from Steve's face until Willie made it. "Oh, that's my Adopted Son." "Big for his age, isn't he?" "The fellows we around and keeps the lies off me. He's a good aim with a six-shooter." Steve laughed. "Oh, I get you! Well pass that over, eh?" At that moment the master of ceremonies approached the table and told Belle that she was to be married there and she expressed herself. Steve watched the master of ceremonies lead Belle out and introduce her. "Next is Miss Belle Mercer singing a brand new song of her own composition. Down - Stream Trotter."

The applause indicated that she was a favorite with the diners, drinker and dancers at the Cabaret El Nivamo. Steve looked away from Belle's eyes. Steve grinned, cocked his head and returned his gaze to the singer. The number went over big and Steve was loud in his applause. Dan's mouth started up and the floor was filled with dancing couples.

Steve settled back in his chair and found the men at the table looking slyly, first at him, then at Steve. Dan's mouth started up and the floor was filled with dancing couples. "Steve knows her stuff, doesn't she?" said Steve, enthusiastically. "She's a good song," replied Willie. "And now you've heard it, don't you think you'd better go?" "Why, I—" He stopped and looked genially around at the cold ladies at the table. "You see, I've hoped this Morgan would give me a dance."

"We won't allow the help to dance with the guests." "Outside!" Willie jerked his head slowly but his voice in spite of its slowness was hard and brittle. "Beat it!"

Steve grinned. "Mind if I say good-bye to the lady first?" "No, not at all. Right through there and the third door on the right."

"Thanks. You're quite a guy, Ryan." Steve waved his hand and walked toward the door. Willie Morgan started to get up, but at a quick glance from Ryan resumed his seat. Steve stopped at the third door on the right and knocked. Bidden enter he found Belle had in her evening costume. When she saw who it was, a worried look came into her eyes.

"Do you know what you're doing?" Steve interrupted. "I got permission to say good-bye. That was nice of him, wasn't it?"

"Morgan, did you know about Willie—I mean, did you know what you were getting into when you came here tonight?" "Oh, and yet you come!" Belle was both surprised and impressed. "Just to see me?" "Look, Morgan," said Belle, finding her words slowly. "It's all been crazy fun, but your commensure was cut out of you with a buzz-saw. And, Morgan, I'm not going to lose time."

"I'd like it for you again." "Sope. You pulled me out of a ditch-and I want to see you right. We're even and so... well, let's just let it go at that."

A tall boy poked his head in to say that Miss Mercer was on after the next chorus, and as the arose to go, Steve demanded: "What's your phone number?" "It came close to him. "You're swell and I like you, Morgan, but— I'm not going to see you again." She gave his shoulder a pat and left. Willie was silent that night most of his way as he took Belle home in his car. When he did speak it was

VULE CHEER MEAT SHOW FOR THE WINDS AT QUEEN'S ARENA

Sum of $23 Raised For Local Fund As Result of Bouts

DENT WINS

Sixteen men and mat men donated their services for the Christmas Cheer card singing by the Queen's Arena Santa Claus troupe by the "Southern A.C. and" promoter Jim Sawyer announced at the conclusion of the bouts that $23.65 had been raised for the fund of the Central Committee.

The main event brought together Tiger Martin and Ed Jolley; the latter substituting for "Wild Bill" Windley, who is resting for his finish match with "Wildcat" Woods, which will be staged here next Saturday. Martin and Jolley put on an interesting show which ended in a draw.

The "Tiger" was in his usual entertaining mood and he and Jolley gave the fans plenty of action as they squirmed and tossed about the ring. The referee was chastised by Martin several times. Jolley secured the first fall with a head scissor and arm lock in the third, but "Tiger" responded with an arm stretch and scissor in the fifth to give even terms.

Delbert Horrocks made a promising debut to the fight game when he met George Dent, B. C. middleweight champion, in the main event of the boxing bouts. Horrocks swayed and feinted away from Dent's bludgeon thrusts for two rounds but the title-holder finally caught up with him in the third staging Horrocks with a few solid blows to gain the decision.

SOUTH WELLINGTON TO DEFEAT HAREWOOD

Locals Drop Game After Taking Lead Three Times; Score 4-3

After leading three times in their match with South Wellington at the Central Sports Grounds yesterday, Harewood Athletic dropped their minor league struggle to the district eleven when the latter dropped ahead in the last 10 minutes to tie the score and then win the match 4-3 on a shilling counter by Tony Geragich, local hero.

Play: conditions made it uncomfortable for the players but a fair match resulted. Harewood opened the scoring when McCormack netted on a penalty kick but Adam Watson tied the score for South Wellington with the same kind of a shot.

Neither team was able to break the deadlock before the interval but soon after the changeover Harewood took the lead when their popper centre half netted his second penalty kick, awarded on a foul by Bryce. Thomas retaliated for the district crew and Hannah gave the Athletics their third goal from a wing shot which was fumbled by Williams in the South Wellington goal.

A hard fight ensued until only 10 minutes were left to play. Then South Wellington equalized through Thomas and four minutes from time Geragich beat Windley for a beautiful center from about 16 yards out.

The teams were: South Wellington, J. Williams; Russell and Carr; Richards, Bryce and Greenwell; Dean, Thomas, Geragich, Golobar and Watson.

Harewood Athletics: Windley, Hutchinson and Biggs; Gavin, McCormack and Gavin; Hannah, Denton, "Scotty" Clarke, Tantrum and McArthur.

Rugger Earn Draw, But Lose To Marpole

Terrible Decision By Referee In Terminal City Robs Locals of Points

(By Special Correspondent)

Scoring a converted try 10 minutes after resuming the second half, Marpole defeated Nanaimo rugby squad in Vancouver Saturday by the narrow margin of five points to nil. The Mainlanders were decidedly lucky to win. Nanaimo forwards outplayed them in the last 20 minutes of the game.

Nanaimo played a man short practically all the game when Johnny Easterbrook suffered a nasty kick on the kidneys. He was carried off. Marpole were more aggressive in the first half but couldn't penetrate the local defence due to the vigorous tackling of Nanaimo.

Marpole players did some fine touch finding, with some judicious kicking. Nanaimo made the mistake of trying to handle the ball which was very greasy, instead of keeping the ball at their feet, with the result they had a number of dangerous fumbles.

The loss of Johnny Easterbrook disorganized the team, and Shaw was brought into the back division. Nanaimo managed to hold the dashing Marpole squad, who had been greatly strengthened for this game, to a draw in the first half.

Kerr was moved to full back in the second half, and he made some fine clearances, his kicks being well judged. Marpole, after ten minutes play in the second half secured a line-out and scored during the post. Dick Jones, Marpole's star kicker easily converted.

Nanaimo forwards raided the Mainlanders' territory, and kept them busy holding their line intact. So great was the pressure that Marpole were forced to touch down several times to save their lives.

Nanaimo were scored a penalty during a trial, but Freddy Dawkin had hard luck with his shot at goal. Marpole broke away with a nice passing movement, but were soon checked by severe tackling. Nanaimo's forwards although weakened by the loss of Shaw and Bamford, were working like trojans.

Dave Shaw made a fine kick, the ball landing inside the corner flag. Several scrums were held on the line, with the locals forcing the Marpole men over, but Referee Underhill, kept bringing them back for a scrum again. Nanaimo again forced them over and Blackburn was lying on the ball over the line when the scrum was cleared, scoring a sure try. But to the consternation of Nanaimo and greatly to the surprise of their opponents, Underhill declared it no try.

It was a terrible decision, and a great disappointment to Nanaimo's forwards who had fought so gallantly to score.

Nanaimo kept up the attack and had hard lines when Dawkin took a long drop kick at the goal, the shot grazing the post.

Nanaimo were still having the best of matters when the final whistle sounded. "It was a hard game to lose and Nanaimo were well worth a draw and rightfully earned one.

Blackburn, Dawkin, Collinshaw, Pula, Naylor and Dobinson, local forwards, played like heroes, but they had too much of a load to carry. Hydebeck was in great form, his tackling being very effective.

Bill Easterbrook played his usual good game, but was inclined to hang on to the ball too long.

Johnny Easterbrook, injured in Saturday's rugby game, is confined to his home, where he is "resting easily."

Kids Drop Game To Wideawakes At Cumberland

The league-leading Motor Levels suffered a temporary setback in their attempt to lift all-silverware competition for junior soccer teams in this district when they were held to a three-all draw by Tar Flats in a first-round Bagatin Cup fixture at the Central Sports Grounds Saturday afternoon.

But Baird's counter, which put the Flats on even terms during the dying moments of the match, was said to be one of the finest goals ever secured here.

Mechanics took the lead when McLaren, Tar Flat custodian failed to hold the ball on Crawley's corner kick and the latter was credited with the goal by junior soccer teams in this district when they were held to a three-all draw by Tar Flats in a first-round Bagatin Cup fixture at the Central Sports Grounds Saturday afternoon.

NANAIMO CITY TO PLAY ALL-STARS

Seniors Doubtful If Opponents Can Lower Their Colors In Match

The soccer commission and B. C. J.F.A. have granted permission for Nanaimo City and a Junior All-Star eleven to engage in an exhibition match Sunday, in aid of the Nanaimo Christmas Cheer Fund.

The Junior Association should be able to field a strong team, and the seniors are optimistic a hard match will be the result. The Nanaimo City team will hold a joint meeting sometime this week to select the strongest possible eleven to carry their colors against the world Dominion Cup series.

The City has begun to play a stronger brand of ball in their past few engagements, and their officials feel that the best juniors can produce will be enough to toughen the senior banner. A large turnout of fans is expected, because of the prospects for such a fine game and in order to help the local Christmas Cheer Fund, as well as to encourage junior football here.

Smith Resigns As Pilot of Nanaimo Football Eleven

It came again the Nanaimo City football team is without a manager due to the resignation of Jimmy Sutt, who took over the duties, as pilot of the world Dominion Cup series last spring. Jimmy was the popular choice at the re-organization meeting of the club owing to the fact that he had managed the boys on their successful barnstorming trip to the province during the summer months.

He has finally built the team up until it now stands as one of the strongest units in the provincial soccer line-up, but feels that he cannot carry on any longer as the manager.

The new pilot, who has yet to be decided upon, will be the fourth to take control in less than two seasons.

The Grassick Cup, donated by Grassick Jewellers, will be held by the winner for the year 1934. The contest will be awarded to a participant donated by Judge C. H. Barker and the runner-up will receive a personal prize donated by Judge Barker.

Plane Almost Crashes Upon Residence of King

London, Dec. 11.—Crowds watching the ever-popular ceremony of the changing of the guard at Buckingham Palace were startled today when an aeroplane passed, apparently by only a few feet above the roof of the palace.

The King and Queen who were in residence at the palace, made inquiries.

An eye-witness said the plane swerved sharply to avoid crashing into a flagstaff.

CHURCHES OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST

"GOD THE PRESERVER OF MAN" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which was read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, December 10, 1939.

"Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: 'In all their affliction he was afflicted, and the angel of his presence saved them: in his love and in his pity he redeemed them; and he bare them, and carried them all the days of their life' (Isaiah 63: 9).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passage from the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "When man is governed by God, the present mind who understands all things, man knows that with God all things are possible" (p. 180).

ARGYLES DEFAULT TO NORTH SHORE

Senior Soccer Eleven Fails To Field a Team To Play Uniteds

Vancouver, Dec. 11.—First division of the Vancouver and District League demonstrated its superiority over the second division by a 3-1 victory before approximately 500 people at Con Jones Park, Saturday afternoon. Proceeds went to newspaper Santa Claus funds.

Played for the most part in a drizzle of rain and on a ground that resembled a quagmire after the first five minutes, the game was far from first class, as players found it difficult to run and pass. But it was exciting enough to watch enough for the fans and there was little grousing.

Royals of the Coast soccer loop smeared St. Andrews in Saturday's mud at Queen's Park 3-1 in the only league tilt of the day. Tommy Gray and Sheppard (3) led the goals for the Westminster eleven, while McLaren scored the Strip's marker.

Renewed Argyles of the Senior Soccer League were scheduled to play North Shore United on the North Shore Saturday, but the Argyles failed to field a team, leaving the Uniteds with two points more in what used to be the senior soccer loop.

system among crowded mill workers, old and young, into small quarters, brought danger and disaster to many, and from the close of the Napoleonic wars to the beginning of the World War, England was occupied by a Dominion of England, representing the poor law, enacting factory legislation, developing accident insurance, and by 1912, sickness and unemployment insurance. Under this legislation, England has withstood the industrial differences, subsequent to the World War.

"In Canada, during these same 100 years, this country has developed from the early stages of immigration to a Dominion of equal status with other dominions of the Empire. But there has been a steady change from an agricultural to an industrial condition and the necessary social legislation has been advanced to a large extent on England's models since 1832.

"The social legislation in Canada is of three main types: (1) Community interests such as Public Health Acts and Public School Acts; (2) For the protection of dependents such as mother's allowances, neglected children and handicapped and mentally-deficient children; (3) Accident insurance, old age pensions, which leads to the present-day discussion of sick and accident insurance, as well as the organization of State medicine, which is a problem of the immediate present.

"It is obvious that this social legislation involves considerable expense on the part of the individual provinces and though they complain of the heavy burden, the speaker took the view that greater expense must be undertaken in the near future to aid all those who do not sufficiently insure the products of the state, unless the state distribution to them is what they are able to secure for themselves.
