

WORLD OPINION

The resolutions passed the called from the Free Press World, do not mean any more than the resolution of the Nanaimo Free Press.

A DAY OF CONSECRATION

ARMISTICE DAY ought to be a day of Remembrance, not only for all of our relatives and intimate loved ones during the great struggle whose meriting ending we celebrate on November eleventh, but also for the great memory just as they were as if they had been our own. They were our own in a very real sense, and gave themselves for us, and to the longest day of our lives we should think of them with respect, thanksgiving and abounding gratitude.

Of course a Day of Remembrance should be a day of remembrance, and on it, of all the days in the year, we should face the realities of life and death, and the duty in somewhat of a chastened and thoughtful mood, and as far removed as possible from the excited overflow of feeling that has sometimes found expression in elaborate military display and jingoistic shouting on Armistice Day. We will be thinking by letting our thought dwell upon them and the thing which they did and the spirit which they showed, and keeping it away as much as possible from the instrument with which they served, and of which we have become more and more doubtful, and of which we have a conviction that, if they could express themselves today, they would express even more positive doubt than we.

But Armistice Day should not only be a day of remembrance, it surely ought to be as well a day of consecration, a day of consecration of ourselves to the great cause of world peace, and the prohibition of war spirit. No matter what may be the philosophies that convict us today as to how that good end may be reached, can we not unite in seeking that end, and decide to detach ourselves from the means by which we reach it, and to live by the means we use that we cannot see believe would be very dear to those memories we are seeking to honor at this time. They fought in the War that they fondly believed was to end war. We know now that war cannot be ended that way, but may we not realize we not, to do what we can to realize the purpose that so greatly moved them?

If we could start a great crusade in the interests of world peace into which we might get the religious fervor and enthusiasm that marked some of the other great movements of history, what might we not expect in the interests of peace? It is a question if we could really do it. It is a question if the end we have in view without some such movement that would demand their loyalty and devotion.

The New Outlook, published by the United Church of Canada.

Lincoln Peckham, German novelist: "Any discussion of measures for the preservation of peace remains a purely academic exercise as long as..."

"The munitions industry of each country is not supervised by the state and effectively controlled, and..."

"(2) So long as an international police is not created, one which would be in a position to carry out any peace resolution of an international agreement."

Albert Kerr, German literary critic: "I am a friend of animals... nevertheless a dog must be killed. I am also a pacifist... nevertheless a small mad dog must be killed. Don't kill him by the foolish and expensive means of war. Kill him by economics. Don't kill him—kill him—kill him!"

Theodore Dreiser: "How establish a durable peace? Answer: Achieve even a low percentage of international equity—say as low as 20 per cent, which would be high at this writing. How to establish that much international equity? Persuade the intelligent in every country to study the new economics, which involve all the new inventions and the democratic use of the same for the benefit of all. Also the planned use of the boundless sources of power now available, which are sufficient not only to end slavery but even hard work for every one on the planet. Also to provide every living being with agreeable surroundings."

Abelardo L. Rodriguez, President of Mexico: "The peace of the world will be effected and will endure, when all the elements of labor—workers and farmers—shall be organized, will unite in taking the necessary steps to refuse to obey inhuman mandates."

MUSICAL MOMENTS

Albert Einstein says: "Imagination is more important than knowledge. For knowledge is limited, whereas imagination embraces the entire world, stimulating progress, giving birth to evolution."

For this day and age there are so many performers of things musical that oftentimes it is the individual's fault, when selecting a teacher, especially for vocal training, that so many of our singers are ruined. There is a vast deal of difference between a teacher of singing and a vocal coach.

The teacher of singing must be a specialist in the art, must be able to sing, or have an artist who has been through the mill. The singing of vowels and scales does not mean that everyone of them, really understand voice placement. How often we hear contralto stretching for soprano registers, bass often the victim, that she is a lyric soprano, when really the voice is lovely and suited only for a mezzo range—and so it goes on. The real vocal trainer, understands breath control, and exercises with that purpose, strengthens the diaphragm, cultivates a taste for the higher plane of singing; does not expect fireworks, with songs some composer has foisted on the market because it suits G and down to G; two octaves lower. Probably the correct voice it thinking of an extraordinary voice, or perhaps, as its the case sometimes, the composer is more concerned with his own ability than that of the average singer.

The vocal coach is one who takes over the job, after a voice has been correctly placed, and helps the singer, as to note values, expression, pronunciation, and the hundred and one things that have to be learned if an aspiring singer would appear before a long suffering public.

Do not be confused, if you have a voice that is well training—be very sure. Don't be carried away by the idea that because a teacher is successful in piano mechanics it just naturally follows the voice mechanics will be equally successful. There are vocal coaches and vocal teachers.

The Nanaimo Women's Musical Club will hold their monthly meeting and recital, Monday, Nov. 12, at the home of the president, Miss E. Robinson, Stewart avenue.

The concert given at the Hotel on Nov. 19, in the Malaspina Hotel is causing considerable interest. It is to be a concert of vocal and instrumental numbers, but will have an unusual attraction by the costumeing. Many old trunks are being unpacked for dresses of the "Gay Nineties." National costumes will also be worn. On Monday evening the recital will be held in the form of a rehearsal.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON, NOV. 11

Lesson Suggests Promotion of Friendship Between People and Communities

Golden Text: All they that take the sword shall perish with the sword—Matthew 26:52.

GALATIANS 5:13-25
13. For, brethren, ye have been called unto liberty; only use not liberty for an occasion to the flesh, but by love serve one another.

14. For all the law is fulfilled in one word, even in this: That thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself.

15. But if ye bite and devour one another, take heed that ye be not consumed one of another.

16. This I say then, Walk in the Spirit, and ye shall not fulfill the lust of the flesh.

17. For the flesh lusteth against the Spirit, and the Spirit against the flesh; and these are contrary the one to the other; so that ye cannot do the things that ye would.

18. But if ye be led of the Spirit, ye are not under the law.

19. Now the works of the flesh are manifest which are these: Adultery, fornication, uncleanness, lasciviousness, idolatry, witchcraft, hatred, variance, emulations, wrath, strife, seditions, heresies.

20. Envyings, murders, drunkenness, revellings, and such like: of the which I tell you before, as I have also told you in time past, that they which do such things shall not inherit the Kingdom of God.

21. But the fruit of the Spirit is love, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith.

22. Meekness, temperance: against such there is no law.

23. And they that are Christ's have crucified the flesh with the affections and lusts.

24. If we live in the Spirit, let us also walk in the Spirit.

25. Let us not be desirous of vain glory, provoking one another, envying one another.

26. Let us not be desirous of vain glory, provoking one another, envying one another.

"Death on the Diamond"

By LEBBEUS MITCHELL

WHAT HAS HAPPENED BEFORE the latest appearance of the "Death on the Diamond" series, which has been so popular, is that the author has been so busy that he has not had time to write another chapter. He is now in the hospital, and is expected to be out in a few weeks. He has been in the hospital for some time, and is expected to be out in a few weeks. He has been in the hospital for some time, and is expected to be out in a few weeks.

"He didn't care. Nobody's left," "Didn't Higgins go out?" "Now. He's in there." "Francis Clark, Larry Kelly and Jimmie Downey had sensed that there was something wrong on the field, but they had not time to get out of the stands and run toward the grandstand, and now they were shouting and exclaimed fearfully: "What is the matter, Dad?" "Higgins, the welcher, has run out on us!"

STAGE SET FOR BENEFIT GAME

Snappy Junior League To Meet In Soccer Fixture For Hurt Player

The stage is set for tomorrow's benefit soccer match between South-end and Harwood's who will appear in the annual and followed by the sign-up and the chauffeur stepped on the gas as a police guard jumped on the running board. The two deserted wives started to run after the departing car, but soon they were stopped by hysterical weeping. Passers-by and the small crowd collected about the hotel to see if the players would really risk going to the park, broke into cheers as the rest of the players crowded into the waiting motor.

DUNCAN FIFTEEN SCIENTIFIC TEAM

Open Play Expected When Nainaimo Clashes With Duncan Boys

Tomorrow's rugby game at Robin's Park promises to be an outstanding feature. The Cowichan fifteen are clear at opening up play and some really scientific rugby should be witnessed. Duncan have a much stronger team than last season having held the strong Victoria Senior Navy team to a draw last week. They are all college trained players receiving their tuition from the best possible coaches. ## DAWGER TRAILS

"Why, the yellow-bellied" began Pop, but broke off, turned to the bench, and called: "Warmack! Get in there!" "Me? I—L—L" stammered Warmack. "I said get in there!" stormed Pop and Warmack, with every evidence of reluctance, started towards the pitcher's box as Pop continued to rage: "That dirty, yellow double-crosser! I'll fine him a hundred bucks! I'll suspend him!" He disappeared into the tunnel to the clubhouse as an amplified voice of the loudspeaker announced: "Warmack now pitching for St. Louis."

Mosquito A's Drop Game To Fast Lake Hill Five

Impressive Headliner and Fine Card, Features of Display at Gymnasium

Bill Culligan's popular Mosquito A's met young Nainaimo basketball squad in a game that was a real treat when they took to Lake Hill, 46-40, but they peaked more action and thrills into their 40 minutes of basketball with the elusive Victorians, than fans have had the fortune to witness here for many a day.

Equally impressive was the support of a 34-16 score, Hunter's Service hooked up their third win in as many starts in Senior C competition. Keeping their feet on their heels are Hebble's Jewellers who handed Dakin's a 34-13 setback. This kept the Jewellers' slate clean giving them a second victory, and a battle royal is promised when they meet Thermalized Gasoliers.

Nainaimo Yacht Club boys, coached by Gay Brown, himself a player of note in local hoop circles, played their first game under their new name last night, and came out of it with a 27-20 victory over Northfield Widespreads.

Lake Hill held its spotlight, at least Bud Mitchell, the district's wing forward fit, in the first period of the feature match. This elusive young man eased his way through the Mosquito defense and dropped in 16 points before the going soured in the second.

Skipper Jack Naylor, who twisted his ankle early in the first part of the game and was then lost for the rest of the half, came on at the start of the second half with Gord Holt and Fred Robinson as his forward line partners. What these three young men didn't do to Lake Hill's guard line isn't worth telling. Robinson, small but very active, hit in and out of five throw area to clear the lanes for his two sharpshooters. Holt and Naylor roared at the first call and Lake Hill's lead was soon clipped from 15 points to one. McEwen's shot, and out of five throw area with McDougall and Houston to hold the opposition.

SPEAKER DESCRIBES CRUISE ABOUT WORLD

C. E. Blaney of Vancouver Heard by Members of Rotary Club

C. E. Blaney of Vancouver, B. C. steamship travelling passenger agent of the C.P.R. was guest speaker yesterday at the regular luncheon meeting of the Rotary Club. The programme was under the aegis of the club's International Service Committee, and included an eloquent address by President Charles Holmes of the Nanaimo Branch of the Geographical Legion, commemorative of this year's anniversary of Armistice Day. Mr. Holmes made a strong plea for support for that organization's worthy fund. Mr. Holmes was accompanied by Secretary George Barclay, also of the local branch.

Mr. Blaney, in a running fire of well-stated descriptive narrative, illustrated by moving pictures of the places, scenes and persons, death with by him in connection with what must be an extremely pleasurable and informative entertainment afforded passengers on the Empress of Britain on the regular service to the "Rialto," the "World" liners, a realistic description of the main wonders to be seen and enjoyed on these annual outings of over 40,000 miles, embracing the principal ports of the world.

The universality of the service was impressed upon one's mind by the speaker's indirect references to the Empress of Britain—the company's magnificent flagship, while he took his audience through a veritable kaleidoscope on the 42,500 ton vessel. Mr. Blaney made it plain that he was not there to laud the achievements and enterprise of the C. P. R. his naive reference to the travelers "where I am there shall you also" suggests the universality of that great transportation system which, the speaker maintained, has done more for Canada than any other organization or combination of factors, besides being one of the greatest international utilities in existence.

For the too limited time at his disposal in dealing with his subject and showing and explaining of the sunny view, one could almost imagine being amongst the scenes and crowds depicted. Mr. Blaney has been over the entire route in charge of these special contingents of world tourists, his actual knowledge of all subjects matter handed by his audience, the better to represent all aspects and angles of his report.

A vote of thanks was tendered to the visitor.
